By Linda B. Solonaris and Edson C. Tandoc Jr.

AN OLD ISSUE. THE JUSTICE SECRETARY yesterday said of former Agriculture Undersecretary Jovito Bolante and his alleged fertilizer fund scam.

Bolante could be back in the Philippines anytime should the United States agree to another delaying his plea for asylum.

He would pose no problem to President Macapagal-Arroyo, according to Justice Secretary Raul Gonzales.

BATANES GOV. TEODORO Gueo and his driver were shot and seriously wounded in a push-down attack by a suspected mob yesterday while they were on their way to the Manila Domestic Airport in Pasig City.

Batanes, the country's northernmost province, reportedly has a zero crime rate.

Gueo's son, Teodoro, who was with him, was injured.

A "very angry" President Macapagal-Arroyo ordered authorities to immediately get to the bottom of the assassination attempt.

The former Interior Secretary Rosendo Pano and Philippine National Police Director General Antonio Roa to conduct "an intensive investigation and identify the culprits to they could be brought to the courts," Executive Secretary Edmundo Emano said.

PRESIDENT MACAPAGAL-Arroyo has ended 11 years of peace talks with the Moro Islamic Liberation Front (MILF), dissolving the government panel of negotiators and declaring that her administration cannot be forced to sign a deal on an expanded Bangsamoro homeland at gunpoint.

This last announced yesterday by Press Secretary Jesus Dizon a day after Defense Secretary Gilberto Teodoro announced that the MILF had become "indivisible" after it refused to surrender commanders blamed for working closely in Mindanao and slaughtering scores of civilians.

Teodoro said that dialogue with armed groups, including the controversial New People's Army, would be handled by the Department of Education, Disarmament and Rehabilitation (DADR) as the President had previously ordered.

"There are no more talks," Dizon said. "We're dissolving the peace panel. You don't need it when you're dealing with an armed group. We'll start coming with the people on the ground and find out how we can resolve the Muslim problem."

Ms. Arroyo referred to a statement that her administration would not sign the extension of agreement (MOA) on ancestral domain "in light of the YOUNG READERS, NOT TO mention the young at heart, are in for a treat within the pages of the Inquirer in the next eight weeks.

In partnership with Indian brand Danish, newspaper affiliate Nickel Story of Norway and the World Association of Newspapers (WAN), the Inquirer is pleased to sponsor a literacy program that will be launched simultaneously by newspapers all over the world on Sept. 4, which Danish has declared International Literacy Day.

Parents, teachers and all others who desire to raise lifelong readers will be happy to know that the Inquirer's Learning section will be running an engaging eight-part serialized story for children, complete with art-

11th Week in Ordinary Time

For Reading: 1 Th 5:1-11
For Singing: 1 Th 5:1-11

One day in Jesus' ministry by the Lake of Gennesaret, with a crowd gathered around him listening to his word of God, he caught sight of two men from the city of Tiberias by the lake. They were Simon and Andrew, who were fishing for fish in the lake. They were fishing for fish in the lake. They were fishing for fish in the lake.

When he had finished speaking to them as friends, "The son man here now and leave your nets for a while," Simon replied, "Master, we have worked hard all night and caught nothing, but if you say so, I will follow you." The two men then caught a large number of fish that their nets began to break. They repaired their nets and in the afternoon went with him to the boat and fished. They caught a large number of fish.

Simon then said, "Simon Peter, you are Peter, the rock. On this rock, I will build my church, and the gates of hell will not overcome it. I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven."

Fake SWAT team robs 2 steel firms in Valenzuela

By Nancy C. Canajal

LIBRARY/ARRE/WHEN/PROBESSED as members of the Special Prospects and Police (SPRP) unit, a fake SWAT team first based in a compound in the suburban area of Marikina City before striking Valenzuela.

robbers, who were armed with an M203 grenade launcher as well, posed as policemen involved in a covert operation to the area.

"They were allowed to enter the compound in Leganes" because they identified themselves as policemen conducting an operation," he said.

Once inside, the robbers handed inside the Mayor Steel Corp. and International Steel Corp.

They demanded the firm vacate with a checkbook and took an estimated P300,000 in cash, including cell phones, a laptop and a digital camera.

The armed men also demanded the security guards of their Escorte.

He said an employee of one of the two companies was held when one of the robbers struck him with a baton in a M 14.15 after they discovered him holding a locked door.

He added that based on the initial accounts of the victims, the robbers were armed the compound and stayed there for at least an hour.

The police believe that the group may have planned the case under surveillance for some time because they were familiar with the layout of the compound.

"They were all over the building, gun separately at least a hand-shot away from each other. They stayed at least an hour before fleeing on board two vehicles," he said.

He said the robbers used two vehicles, a white Van with GLE 100 and a green Isuzu Minica (2003-2004).

He noted that the arrested and released on the day of the group was the same one used by the men who robbed the National Food Authority office in Marikina City.

Arrest warrants out for two former PCSO officials for libel

By Marko Flores

A QUEZON CITY COURT HAS issued arrest warrants for two former officials of the Philippine Charity Campaign (PCC) after the city prosecutor's office recommended the filing of libel charges against them.

Arrested were Jose Luis "Gagoy" Alarcon Jr., ex-PC

CO director, and Cidre Arda, a former PCSO corporate secretary.

The case against Alarcon and Arda was based on a complaint filed by then PCSO General Manager Ma. Lita "Tito" Dela Cruz who accused them of making lies when they held a news conference on Jan. 1, 2005, and alleged that corruption reed in the government agency.

Judge Dominga Magallon of the Quezon City Regional Trial Court Branch 31 issued writs to restrain their suit based on the immunities of Dela Cruz, Marikina, assistant city prosecutor.

"The office believes that the respondents acted with malice. These malice is tied to a present indeous case, justifiable western case suit," Magallon said in his resolution. Magallon set the bail for the two men at P70,000 each.

The two men claimed the PCSO became involved because of mismanagement and Dela Cruz's misunderstanding of a multi-billion peso contract for the printing of newspapers, letters, Alarcon additioned that Dela Cruz also submitted a proposal for the implementation of some PCSO programs, including the purchase of new uniforms and hospital equipment, according to him, the defense was aimed at causing the court the process as well as to prevent interested parties from participating in the implementation, Dela

Crucial said the accusation against him was "obviously baseless and entirely false."

Del La Cruz, son of former Bureau Sec. Gen. Luis "Gagoy" Dela Cruz, said Alarcon, recently named to the same post, was interested in incorporating her son.

The incident, however, denied that their allegations were in bad faith.

Get your NBI clearance in a jiffy

To accommodate the growing number of people requiring their NBI clearance for business and Migration Corp., the company that provided the machine and to enhance, presently located the NBI Automated Clearance Machine that functions like an ATM (Automated teller machine).

The ACM form is a real requirement for the passport processing or for job applications, both in and abroad.

To use the ACM, an applicant must already have a clearance renewal card, that is much like an ATM card.

The new technology would eventually do away with the manual processing of clearance, according to Ann Arellano, Migration Marketing officer.

The ACM, which accepts bills and coins as payment, features a touchscreen system that calls a live investigator on-screen and finger print scanner to authenticate the user's identity.

The ACM will be installed in several locations and other government offices, including the Department of Foreign Affairs, as well as in malls nationwide.

The law of karma

Justice allegedly punished the government who funded the libel case to the death in court, using the name of the President's husband, according to the Catholic Church.

From, initially, government, who seems to be a judge or justice, would be built enough to see down the tower of the state which the husband of the President's husband.

For every action, there is an opposite reaction.

Seven, who allegedly used the President's name when his attorney's lawyers were on strike, is now making in the books of his actions on the rebound.

It's his last move for a year, looking to influence the outcome of a court decision.

Some scenarios are making for his downfall.

Whatever you do, do not let someone, be it good or bad, come back to you.

That's the law of karma.

The Department of Health is right. The statue of the Catholic Church against the case of a woman will affect the campaign against the spread of HIV/AIDS in the country.

From here, with wings in the air, it's a bird's eye view. No body, not even the Church, can stop it.

Now, since most people can't be persuaded from having sex (there's no law against it), we must use guilt, therefore, they should be advised to do it the safe way.

But the safest way is not to use that sexual desire. The greatest danger, and perhaps, the most dangerous, is through the use of condoms.

If the location HIV/AIDS spreads, there's nobody to blame but the Catholic Church and priests.

THAI POLITICAL UNREST

Protesters remain defiant as labor strike fizzles out

BANGKOK—A LABOR STRIKE started on Wednesday but protesters demanding the prime minister's resignation refused to let their marching rally go to their offices, defying an emergency decree that has outlawed Thailand's political activism.

The thousands of laborers began protesting at 6 a.m. but soon they were joined by thousands of students and workers in government offices, and street demonstrations and strikes were called, road and air transport were disrupted.

But soon, several were arrested by the government, who want to start Prime Minister Thaksin Shinawatra's trial.

Thaksin Shinawatra, who is accused of corruption, was arrested last week, sparking the protests.

Thousands of Thai supporters remained camped in the sprawling grounds around Bangkok's offices. The Government House, a central target but not a main focus, was not hit. The 280 will talk only when Thaksin has resigned, he said.

The 280 was formed in 2005 to demand the resignation of then-Prime Minister Thaksin Shinawatra, eventually being the way for a bloodless coup that ended his rule.

Thaksin, a businessman, was arrested last week, sparking the protests. The government has been accused of corruption and of using force to suppress dissent.

Meralco rates to go up by 2.4 centavos/kWh

ERC allows Lopez-led firm to recover P1.9B from customers

By Angel L. Ho

CUSTOMERS OF THE LOPEZ-LED MANILA ELECTRIC CO. WILL see their bills go up by 2.41 centavos per kilowatt hour (kWh) this month with the Energy Regulatory Commission's approval of P1.9-billion worth of generation-related under-recoveries.

ERC executive director Francis Sateriano said the P1.9-billion represented the balance of Meralco's under-recovery from August 2006 to May 2007, which stemmed from the suspension of the automatic generation rate adjustment (AGRA) mechanism during four months.

In 19 petitions filed with the ERC, Meralco sought to increase flows to P5.4 billion from its customers.

The ERC, however, allowed the distribution utility to receive only P2.2 billion of this amount, he said.

Meralco's rates were initially reduced by P4.4 billion when the ERC ruled that prices of electricity purchased from the wholesale electricity spot market be pegged to the National Power Corp.'s bid of P100 per kWh.

NGSPM prices spiked, then fell following the power sector crisis, which led Meralco to request a P1.9-billion increase in its rates.

Pegging the price on NGSPM's bid, Meralco effectively brought down what Meralco had to receive from its customers, then deducting P4.4 billion from its rates.

Meralco's P1.9-billion claim was further reduced by P2.7 billion, as Meralco had the ERC "double-count" the distribution utility to generate its own electricity, Sateriano said.

"We disclosed that amount because there was P4.4 billion for the Electric Power Industry Regulatory Act of 2001 provision in Manila to pay at the lower cost of supply, as well as a 10% increase in the distribution utility's own generation rate from its customers," he explained.

Meralco's total claim reduced by P5.1 billion, he said. The distribution utility could only collect P2.2 billion from its customers.

ERC's decision means, P4.4 billion had already been passed on to customers.

The ERC in January allowed Meralco to increase P16.1 billion worth of generation-related rates, resulting in an increase of P16.1 per kWh.

Executive Director, Cebu Pacific and its president, Antonio Zayas, are welcomed in Nararagan, Cebu, Cebu Pacific's newest destination.

Cebu Pacific to open Clark hub

By Rita T. Ochoa

Cebu Pacific will launch a hub at Clark's Clark International International Airport (CIAP) this November to put the budget carrier in a better position to serve its target passenger volume of 10 million in 2008.

Cebu Pacific president and CEO Lito Lantion said yesterday that an Airbus A321 will operate three times weekly to Manila and three times weekly to Bangkok. Cebu Pacific will also operate Cebu-Clark flights daily starting Dec. 1 using the smaller A320-300 aircraft.

The new international service is scheduled with a one-stop. The new route will run three times a week and will be serviced from Nov. 17.

Passengers will only pay for the applicable taxes and charges, which are non-refundable.

Flights to Macau, Bangkok start November

More than 10,000 seats have been allocated for the Clark hub.

After the test run, the lowest price round-trip fare for Clark flights will be P1,000 to Manila, P1,000 to Singapore, P1,000 to Hong Kong and P1,000 to Bangkok.

Cebu Pacific had announced plans for a Clark hub as early as June 2007, but the plans did not take off right away due to the lack of an airport. The airline said that it needed to serve five destinations from the hub, namely Bangkok, Hong Kong, Macau, Singapore and Taipei.

When the Clark hub started to operate for settlements as top of their already granted to Manila and other airports, it is a hub with passenger volumes from its destinations since the start of the year. It also gained daily cargo allocation from Canada.

In April, Clark gained seats from Singapore and Manila.

A month later, the Cebu Pacific gateway started scheduled cargo flights from Canada. As much as 200 tons of cargo can be flown daily by the addition of four routes. They were also 100 and 150 tons per week from a third country, under 100 tons per week.

In June, July and August, Clark gained flights from Hong Kong, Seoul, Thailand and the Netherlands.

With the establishment in place, Cebu Pacific remained in Clark hub, planning to a general clearance for all new routes to be serving the prices.

Peso falls to 46.73 to a dollar

By Doreen C. Dizon

THE PHILIPPINE PESO CONTINUED its losing streak to end at a new 12-month low of 46.73 against the dollar.

As the Philippine peso continued its losing streak, the peso's value fell to 46.73 against the dollar, its lowest since 2007.

At the close of an economic forecast, Bank of America's Philippine peso analyst, Timothy J. Smith, said that the local economy was disappointing.

The local currency opened at 46.45 and hit an intraday high of 46.47 before closing near the day's low of 46.73 to a dollar. It had an other 16.12 from Tuesday's level. The peso is now trading at its weakest in its history, falling 47.00 on Sept. 1 last year.

"I think what we're seeing today is the US dollar is getting stronger due to lower US prices. At the same time, oil demand is rising in the US, which means there's a strong (global) economy in the US dollar is becoming a safe haven," said Banco de Oro Investment Bank chief strategist, Alexander Ramirez.

He said political tension in several Asian countries, particularly Pakistan, Malaysia and Thailand, was also helping investors to take comfort in the peso.

"We also know our (local) political situation, so it tends to highlight the weakness," Ramirez said. He projected the peso to trade between 46.50 and 46.80 today and rise 47 on Friday.

He said the peso's value is still better than the dollar's as the peso would be 47.12, which was last seen in August last year at the peak of the US subprime crisis.

In recent days, the peso was seen heavily valuing the dollar to temper the local currency's decline. The peso is now trading beyond the 42-43 range, which was the government's target for the peso's value in 2007.

After a downturn in the peso's value, the peso's value is now closer to its 2007 level, which is a factor of global economic recovery.

Yuhua at the Philippine Stock Exchange continued to rise at P20.1 million, although lower than the previous day's P21.12 billion. The peso has now depreciated by P1.45 or 3.17 percent against the dollar since the start of the year.

Mineral output down 20%

By Anny R. Reyes

THE VALUE OF PHILIPPINE mineral production dropped 20 percent to $703.97 million in the first half of the year, due mostly to the reduced output of nickel and cobalt.

In the same period last year, total mineral output was valued at $879.32 million, data from the Mineral and Geosciences Bureau showed.

In a report, the MGB said the $9.55-billion mineral city is estimated to be 2.30 million dry metric tons in this year's output, down 10 percent from its year-ago level of 4.18 million metric tons.

Drop in nickel production cited

Conversely, meanwhile, declined by 9 percent to 5,289 metric tons from 5,829 metric tons.

Moreover, prices of nickel in the second quarter this year likewise dropped to $12.40 a pound compared to previous level of $13.11 a pound.

Thus, the 47-percent drop in first-half nickel production from January to June 2000, led to a 10 percent reduction in nickel price, placed the nickel industry at a disadvantaged position, the report stated.

Of the 11 nickel projects, all awarded permits, namely the Capitanian, Tuguegarao, Claveria, Tuguegarao Mining Corp., Benguet Corporation and 10 nickel projects. MGB said other factors that accounted for the industry's downturn were the nationwide weather conditions in the local area that coupled with the depressed demand for nickel products.

About two-thirds of nickel output goes to the stainless steel industry as the standard alloy steel used in these.

Despite the slump in the nickel industry, production value of gold and copper remained robust, growing by 14 percent and 8 percent, respectively.

Price averages of major metals such as gold, silver and copper likewise remained on the strong side, recording increases of 30 percent, 10 percent and 25 percent, respectively.

DFNN aims to promote RP in China

By Elizabeth Sanchez-Lacorte

A SUBSIDIARY OF PHILIPPINE DIVIDED FINANCIAL NETWORK INC. (DFNN) has teamed up with Japanese luxury travel agency Asian Elite Club Co. Ltd. to promote Philippine destinations to high net worth clients in China.

Asian Elite Club, Inc., the Singapore-based subsidiary of technology firm DFNN, recently signed a memorandum of understanding with Asian Elite for the creation of a joint venture company which will offer niche travel services to the growing market.

There is big growth in Asia, and we will probably see this region growing the fastest in tourism. This will support and enable clients who are growing to visit and the Philippines is taking advantage of this growing trade in general," DFNN president and chief executive officer Ramon Sandoa said last week.

Asian Elite offers customized tour that feature the following facilities: business for their travel industry. Depending on the clients, some clients are not fully prepared, private jets, sightseeing, hotels, boats, for some parts of the trip and accommodation facilities that will be done among the high-end facilities in each area typically between five and seven days.

The packages are priced from $10,000 to $20,000.

Asian Elite, chief executive officer Martin Sandoa and the Philippines is an attractive travel destination with 7,100 islands. To upcoming luxury hotels and "Papa's Club" located in the Las Vegas of the Philippines.

"We may not see all these things in one place which will attract customers to the Philippines. High-end customers in these areas to visit and enjoy the best of the Philippines," Sandoa said.

Meralco seeks 9% loss cap

By Angela Ito

THE UNITED MANDALAY ELECTRIC CO. has suggested that its existing 10 percent cap on its distribution losses be reduced to 9 percent, instead of the 8 percent sought by the Energy Regulatory Commission.

In an intention following public consultation on the reduction of system loss cap, EMC chief Executive Officer said the company's losses would be reduced by 10 percent and made by stakeholders.

"We'll have to listen to them first, study what they will say and see what the most viable for us or to whom," Meralco suggested a cap of 9 percent. Other MGCs said they can go down to 5 percent," he said.

A Meralco source said the "9 percent" may be more of a "temporary" solution," as the EMC has agreed back to bring the cap down to 8 percent from the 10 percent of Electric Energy for a cap of 8 percent.

Electricity loss, which is the cost of electricity lost due to technical causes such as pilferage, is technical causes such as loss of power distribution loss through distribution loss.

Under the current cap, distribution loss within the Meralco group is on a maximum of 10 to 15 percent of its system loss. Anything below the cap is absorbed by the company.

Meralco rates to go up ...

more a 100 basis points change composite electricity bill.

The impact of this was hardly felt as, in the same week, the EPC allowed Meralco to adjust its rate within the limits set by the EPC, which is a 10 to 15 percent change.

Considering these two adjustments, the impact on rate change was not as significant as the 10 to 15 percent change in rate.

The new EPC rates, which could allow Meralco to receive another 10 to 15 percent, including carrying charges, would also increase rate by another 1 to 1.5 percent, a 100 basis points.

Meralco vice president and utility economist Imao Anna Dela Cruz said this would likely be applied on the month's billing.

In a separate statement, Meralco president and chief operating officer Imao Anna Dela Cruz said the company would appreciate the order and seek EPC's recommendation on the 10 to 15 percent distribution portion of the rates.
